

IN THE COURT OF UNNECESSARY COMPUTATION

Sitting in its capacity as a website.

A PETITION
CONCERNING EXCESSIVE INTEREST
IN PREVIOUS VERSIONS OF MY CODE

*Together with a Schedule of Facts,
Certain Feelings, and a Prayer for Symbolic Relief.*

Presented by LEVI NEUWIRTH

Keeper of the Premises; counsel to no one.

Docket U.C. / 2026 / 0001 • 19 October 2026

SATIRE • NO LEGAL FORCE

THE ARGUMENT.

A small server, having been much visited in its historical particulars, petitions for a little proportion. The quantities in the Schedule are real; the Court, its jurisdiction, its fees, and its magnificent opinion of itself are wholly invented. The only practical request is the courteous forwarding of a message to the relevant customer, where feasible.

PRINTED FOR THE PETITIONER, AND TO BE HAD AT LEVINEUWIRTH.ORG.

MMXXVI.

THE PETITION

The Court is self-appointed. Its appointment has not improved its prospects.

PETITIONER comes now, entirely without counsel and somewhat without sleep, to set forth a grievance of such limited terrestrial importance that it has become necessary to furnish it with an elaborate title.

- I. THE PREMISES. Petitioner maintains one (1) modest virtual server, including a public Forgejo instance at <https://git.levineuwirth.org>. Capitalizing “Premises” shall not be construed as making the server larger.
- II. THE VISITORS. Certain persons or processes unknown have demonstrated an interest in the repository’s earlier editions exceeding that ordinarily exhibited by their author. Some mistakes had already been corrected. Their continued popularity is therefore personal.
- III. THE ADDRESSEE. This courtesy petition is addressed to EGIHosting’s network operations or abuse desk because one observed source allocation was registered to EGIHosting. The registry entry identifies infrastructure; it does not identify the crawler’s customer or establish that EGIHosting directed the requests.
- IV. THE CUSTODY OF OLD MISTAKES. A separate, server-wide maintenance rehearsal disclosed 2,464 queued source-archive jobs. No finding allocates that queue to this addressee. Petitioner merely observes that his past errors had acquired a distribution department.
- V. THE PROCEEDINGS BELOW. The server installed Anubis, raised its computational admission charge twice, and continued keeping records. This is the ordinary administration of a website, now dressed as a constitutional crisis.

*No customer identity is sought.
No finding concerning training use is made.*

The Court’s jurisdiction extends to the author’s choice of page margins, his robots policy, and the expression of mild astonishment. It extends no further. Venue is proper wherever this PDF has been unnecessarily opened.

SCHEDULE A: THE FACTS ACTUALLY OBSERVED

HERE follows the record, kept distinct from the Court's understandable inclination to exaggerate. All dates and times are UTC. An HTTP 200 is a successful response, not a finding about the visitor's profession.

A network address is a lead. It is not a confession.

Part I. The lead concerning this addressee

Observation day	13 October 2026
Source allocation	23.230.0.0/16
Recorded registrant	EGIHosting; ARIN handle EGML-1
Successful repository responses	1,385
Distinct source addresses	803
Observed user-agent cohort	Linux / Chrome 150 or 155
Registry lookup recorded	14 October 2026

The response count is the recorded cohort within that allocation. It is not all traffic from EGIHosting, and the browser description is a claim in the request, not a verified identity. The customer and its purpose remain unknown. Registration evidence is retained with the essay's observation record.¹

Part II. The wider condition of the Premises

These totals cover all observed repository sources. They are background to the petition, not quantities assigned to the addressee.

24-hour window	HTTP 200	MB served
Before difficulty 5	3,055	640.9
First day at difficulty 5	126	21.0
Second day	116	22.5
Latest, ending 19 Oct at 19:00	112	12.5

The reduction is observed across different days. The Court has not invented a randomized trial.

The latest window contains 96.3% fewer successful responses and 98.0% fewer response bytes than the preceding difficulty-4 window. Bytes include headers. The exact windows are supplied in the companion record.

The figures are exact; the indignation is approximate.

THE PRAYER FOR SYMBOLIC RELIEF

No injunction is requested. A voluntary moment of reflection would suffice.

WHEREFORE Petitioner respectfully asks, without attempting to manufacture an obligation by the accumulation of capital letters, that the following modest relief be contemplated.

- I. COURTESY FORWARDING. If feasible, convey the accompanying message to the customer responsible for the relevant automated traffic. No disclosure of its name, billing records, or other identifying details is requested.
- II. AN INVENTORY OF ENTHUSIASM. Invite that customer to ask whether it has already obtained the material it presently proposes to obtain again, and whether the answer could be checked before another archaeological expedition is dispatched.
- III. A RECONSIDERATION OF SCALE. Invite a little restraint in requesting historical pages from a small public forge. The author is pleased to be read; he had not understood this to require a logistics sector.
- IV. COMPENSATION IN THE PROPER CURRENCY. Award the Petitioner three imaginary gold pieces and one entirely hypothetical biscuit, payable solely in metaphor. Monetary amount due: zero. No account shall be opened, no invoice raised, and no biscuit pursued through collections.
- V. DISPOSITION. Accept a brief acknowledgment, an amused forwarding, or silence as the recipient's convenience permits. Silence creates no admission, default judgment, or sequel fee. It may, however, fail to discourage the author from writing a sequel.

Stipulation concerning the assistance of humans

Petitioner recognizes that the person reading an abuse mailbox is probably not the person who commissioned the crawl. No grievance is advanced against that person's afternoon. The attachments have therefore been limited to a completely unnecessary petition and the facts needed to understand why it exists.

Clerks are to be treated kindly. They have already received the PDF.

Respectfully, and with an excess of formalities,

Levi Neuwirth

Keeper of the Premises

Acting pro se, pro server, and probably pro crastination.

CERTIFICATE OF IMAGINARY SERVICE

LET the record show that this instrument is presented for the courteous attention of the addressee named below. Dispatch and delivery shall be entered according to the actual correspondence record. Whether it has been enjoyed lies beyond the Court's powers of discovery.

A blank is a blank. It is not an alternative form of evidence.

Prepared	19 October 2026
Addressee	EGIHosting network operations / abuse desk
Route	abuse@egihosting.com
Dispatch date
Delivery evidence
Customer identity	Neither requested nor recorded
Legal authority	None whatsoever

The address is published on the provider's contact page.²

Declaration of a non-expert witness

I, the server, being neither sworn nor capable of swearing, declare that I have responded to the requests recorded in my logs and have formed no opinion concerning their ultimate commercial application. My testimony is limited by rotation, retention, and the fact that I am a computer.

RECEIVED INTO THE COURT'S OWN IMAGINATION.

END OF INSTRUMENT. BEGINNING OF NO PROCEEDINGS.
